3. Find someone who ...

Have the students ask each other what they did during the weekend (or last weekend). Demonstrate the activity with a strong student. Encourage short/long answers and follow-up questions, e.g. 'Did you meet with friends over the weekend?' 'Yes, I did.' 'Who did you meet?' 'I met with my friends Jacob and Sarah.' etc. Students should make notes of who did what together with the follow-up information. They can compare information in small groups or report to the class individually.

One-to-one: ask your student if he/she did any of the activities during the weekend and have the student ask about your weekend.
